ABOUT

Welcome to Future Lawyer Europe!

As AI, machine learning, and automation continue to reshape the legal landscape, staying ahead demands not only forward-thinking, but also a culture deeply rooted in innovation.

The legal sector has been fundamentally transformed by rapid technological advancements, with recent years witnessing a profound digital shift that has sparked major industry upheaval. As client expectations evolve in response to economic pressures and the changing tech landscape, traditional billing models, like the billable hour, are being critically reexamined.

Future Lawyer Europe offers a dynamic and collaborative platform where the brightest minds from across the legal profession - whether in private practice, corporate legal departments, or litigation - converge to forge a more efficient and innovative future. Over the course of two stimulating days, participants will engage in expert presentations, dynamic panel discussions, and exciting showcases of cutting-edge legal solutions, addressing the most pressing challenges facing legal professionals today.

14:15 - 15:05      PANEL | Skills Required by Next Generation Lawyers

- Many people would argue that spell checkers and grammar checkers changed how we view the writing skills of young lawyers. Will some emerging tech do the same for other skills such as drafting and summarization? What skills should we be looking for in young lawyers today that will prepare the profession's leaders for tomorrow? How do you bridge the skills gap with the senior decision makers within the team to ensure a future forward legal team?
